

In Memory Pins

An elegant memento for you,
your family,
and your friends.

Why 'In Memory Pins?'

For centuries, symbols have been used to acknowledge support, connection and remembrance. Sometimes, these symbols are made into brooches and pins so that they can be attached to clothing and proudly displayed, becoming an ideal way of expressing support and symbolising togetherness in mourning.

The Royal British Legion's Remembrance Poppy is probably the most well-known pin badge in the UK, however the use of small pieces like these as symbols of remembrance dates back to the Victorian era.

Tokens of remembrance, such as black jet brooches or touchstones, were given out as keepsake items at funerals and were a popular way of commemorating a loved one's death. These items were worn for up to two years after the funeral, especially by the immediate family through the period of deep mourning.

With this in mind, we have developed a range of 'In Memory Pins' for families to gift to mourners at the funerals of their loved ones. Our twenty individual designs allow for a personal touch, making them a fitting tribute and encouraging unity and togetherness during their difficult time.

Family and friends can either choose to wear their pins on the day of the funeral or for a longer period of mourning. Each pin is silver plated or enamelled, presented in its own voile drawstring pouch, and can be ordered at the same time as service stationery. A larger pouch will accompany the order for discreet distribution among the congregation.

Serving as a sentimental keepsake, going hand in hand with Orders of Service, it is important that the correct number of pins are purchased for mourners so that nobody is left disappointed.

We believe we have been able to reintroduce a fitting, heartfelt keepsake product that families will find comfort in sharing with mourners, and which will serve as a respectful memento to help everyone come together in grieving their loss.

An elegant memento for you, your family, and your friends.

Each pin comes in an individual, elegant drawstring voile pouch, with a minimum order of ten pins. Pricing is shown below.
